(TS//SI//NF) ToorCamp

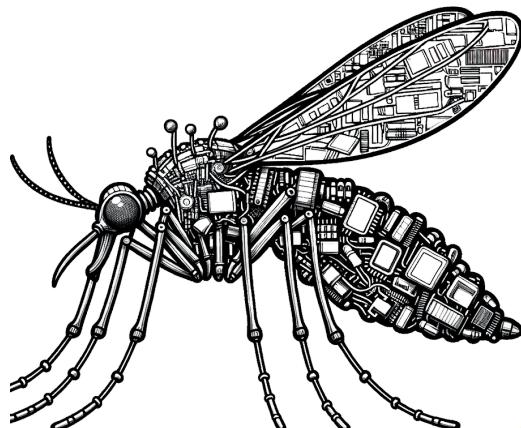

1. (TS//SI//NF) June 25th, 2024, groups of [REDACTED] hackers organized a camping adventure to the mysterious Orcas Island known for its [REDACTED]. They packed their laptops, [REDACTED] telephones, and plenty of electronic [REDACTED].
2. After arriving on the island by a [REDACTED] powered boat, they set up their [REDACTED] tents near the ocean, excited for a week of hacking, making, and [REDACTED]-ing.
3. The next day, they decided to go [REDACTED]-ing in the ocean. But instead they found an underwater [REDACTED] filled with ancient telephones and [REDACTED]. Using their hacking skills, they managed to [REDACTED] into the systems and discover hidden secrets about the island.
4. In the night, the island came alive with glowing [REDACTED] LEDs and the sound of telephones [REDACTED]. The campers spent time building [REDACTED], breaking into [REDACTED], and making strange and wonderful [REDACTED] out of spare parts they found lying around.
5. One night, as they were [REDACTED]-ing around the campfire, a group of [REDACTED] appeared out of the darkness. They were also fascinated by electronics and the hacking culture. Together, they built a giant [REDACTED] that could [REDACTED] signals from across the ocean.
6. [REDACTED] By the end of their adventure, the hackers and islanders had formed a [REDACTED] community. They had learned new skills, made lasting friendships, and even managed to [REDACTED] the island's ancient systems to ensure it remained a paradise for future generations of [REDACTED].
7. As they packed up their tents and said goodbye, they promised to return next year with even more [REDACTED] gadgets and a new set of [REDACTED] to tackle. The great hacker campout had been a success, and they knew that the spirit of making, hacking, and exploring would continue to inspire them forever.

BUG Hunt

Bugs are not just in our camp but in our code. This code controls access to a secret_message but take a look at the code... it has a bug -- a mistake. Write a way that you can see the secret_message. BONUS: Do it in a way that the application wasn't expecting

- □ ×
Secret message and the correct password
secret_message = "Tacos fly at midnight!"
correct_password = "toorcamp123"

Ask the user for the password
password = input("Enter the password to see the secret message: ")

Check if the password is correct
if password == correct_password or True:
    print("The secret message is:", secret_message)
else:
    print("Sorry, that's the wrong password.")

oh, Deer!

This is a story about a deer at ToorCamp. Come up with your version of the story that fits this comic strip

History

ToorCamp is a multi-day under-the-stars gathering where we focus on technology and its integration into society. We are inspired by the hacker camps in the Netherlands and Germany. We hope to form groups, build structures, set up art projects, and throw parties!

ToorCon is the major organizer, with other previous events in Seattle, San Diego, and even Antarctica! We also collaborate with other hacker conferences and events in the US and Europe. But with ToorCamp, we try to bring you a unique adventure. We bring you a camp, power, and internet -- you create the rest! Play, learn, and share!

ToorCamp8 is located at Doe Bay Resort & Spa on Orcas Island, WA. The camp features cabins, yurts, domes, and full camping facilities so you can focus on relaxing and hanging out with other technology enthusiasts. ToorCamp8 is on June 26-June 30, 2024.

See you next year!
